NEWS AND COMMENT.

EAVES and HARRIS "clinched an' fout" in Raleigh the other day, just after a Radical "pow-wow." It is in order just here to bring up the old saw about "when rogues fall out," etc.

THE fact of having well and faithfully served his people certainly makes defeat, through no fault of his own, no easier for a public man to bear; but if the esteem and respect of the people of his whole State can be matter of gratification Col. ROWLAND does not for the present retire from official life unconsoled. He is a young man yet, and North Carolina is still to have need of his clear head and patriotic heart.

A NEWSPAPER correspondent at Washington considers Senator MORGAN, of Alabama (a Tennessean by birth), the best all-around debater in both houses of Congress; and this has been our opinion of him for some time. His speeches read in the Record splendidly, and those who have heard him say that much of their power is lost after being transmuted to cold type. His style is graceful, incisive and dignified; his language simple; his powers of sarcasm irresistible; while his information is varied and all-embracing.

DIPLOMATIC circles in Europe are laughing over the recent action of the United States government in forbidding the transmission through the mails of TOLSTOI's "Kreutzer Sonata." The average American can be very "green" on occasion. The other day the directors of the Detroit Museum of Art ordered the draping of all the nude statuary! We are reminded of Mrs. Hominy in DICKENS's "Martin Chuzzlewhit," who almost fainted with outraged modesty when Martin spoke of seeing something with the naked eye.

To a man up a tree the conventions this year have, as a general rule, resulted in what might be termed a general "rattling of dry bones," all 'round. Those to come bear evidence in advance of a similar result, and before the leaves fall no doubt many surprises will be witnessed. But at all events let our people not lose sight of the importance of upholding the hands of Democracy—local, State and national—and stand firmly and resolutely by the principles of THOS. JEFFERSON, ANDREW JACKSON and GROVER CLEVELAND.

GORDON, of Georgia, is a brilliant man, and was one of the most gallant soldiers of the late war; but he seems to lack a level head. The proposed boycott of the North on account of the force bill would be about as senseless a procedure as could well be imagined. In the first place, it would be unjust, as confounding the innocent with the guilty; secondly, it would accomplish nothing; lastly, it would be puerile and undignified—about such conduct as might be expected of the schoolboy, who "bites off his nose to spite his face."

"A SPORTING character in Cincinnati wants to bet $10,000 that the opposing candidates for President in 1892 will be Governor CAMPBELL, of Ohio, and Ex-Governor FORAKER, of the same State. He has another $10,000 to bet that CAMPBELL will carry Ohio." Very likely. The temper of the Radical party in both houses of Congress clearly indicates that the next Presidential campaign is to be a blood-and-thunder-shot-gun-policy-bloody-shirt canvass, and certainly no one is better fitted to carry the banner in such a fight than FORAKER, of Ohio.

THE officers-elect of the North Carolina Press Association for the ensuing year are as follows: J. P. CALDWELL, President; S. A. Ashe, W. W. Scott, Jr., Robert Haydn, Vice-Presidents; J. B. Sherrill, Secretary and Treasurer; V. W. Long, H. A. London, T. B. Eldridge, Josephus Daniels and R. A. Deal, Executive Committee; E. F. Hilliard, Orator; H. C. Wall, poet; and W. E. Murchison, Historian. Messrs H. A. London, Robt. Haydn, V. W. Long and E. C. Hackney were elected delegates to the National Editorial Association, which meets next July at St. Paul, Minnesota.

"THE farmers of North Carolina will not be misled by any newspaper or any man. They have good judgment, and when the proper time comes they will exercise it. It will not be difficult for them to decide between a patriot and a demagogue, and they will record their decision with emphasis. It will be final, too." There is much truth in the few lines above-quoted. The farmers are not conspicuous for possessing the "gift of the gab," but they "keep up a heap of thinking," and when they decide upon a course of action it is always consonant with good judgment—nor are they backward in decision when the proper time arrives.

IT would seem from the final result that the point made by Judge SPIER WHITAKER's decision against holding Rockingham Superior Court was well taken, since the Governor has seen fit to appoint a successor to the late Judge SHIPP for the purpose of filling out the unexpired term, the holding of Rockingham Superior Court being one of the duties incumbent upon him to discharge. Judge WHITAKER at first accepted the commission from the Governor to hold this Court, but, after a more comprehensive survey of the situation, declined, assigning as his reasons that the Governor was not vested with the power to issue such a commission under the circumstances.

A CIRCULAR is at present being distributed through the State, embodying very grave charges against Judge CLARKE, and secondarily against Gov. FOWLE, Judge WHITAKER, Col. A. B. ANDREWS and the Richmond & Danville R. R. Co., which is credited with controlling the politics of North Carolina. Knowing nothing of the truth of the accusations made, we have no comments to volunteer on the subject-matter of the circular. But we are well-prepared to express the opinion that universal reprobation should be visited on any corporation which seeks, for its own selfish ends, to influence the policy of its government by tampering with popular suffrage at the polls; and that Webster's Unabridged—with all the resources of the English language and the terse force of the Saxon tongue at its command—fails to furnish an adequate measure of contempt for any public man who would permit the Richmond & Danville or any other company to even approach him on the subject of his official relations with the people.

The Canning Industry.

Grocers' and Canners' Gazette.]

There are over 1,900 canning concerns in operation in the country. Maryland leads the list with 598, Maine next with 152, Virginia next, 120; New York, 98; New Jersey, 68; with Ohio, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Illinois next in order, employing in various capacities over 1,000,000 people, and using the product of over 1,000,000 acres of land. Fifteen million cases in round numbers is the estimated output of these canneries in 1889, which, figured at the minimum of current cost, amounts to $25,000,000. Of this vast sum $15,000,000, at least, were paid to the farmer for his products. The packers have paid $3,000,000 in duties last year, and charged the same against the cost of the goods. As the purchasing of canned products is gauged, not by the needs but by the purchasing ability of consumers, any addition to the present cost will curtail consumption in direct proportion. The proposed increase will add $3,600,000 more to the cost of our products. The increase will add at least an average of 20 per cent. to cost, which means curtailing enormously the consumption and the consequent overthrow of 50 per cent. of the packers. The canning industry is the most popular enterprise in the list of American manufactories. Considering its age and future possibilities, it is the most promising. Less than twenty years ago canned products were a novelty, which the crude and costly art of preserving and the excessive cost of cans placed beyond the reach of popular consumption.

On the Jefferson Monument.

The original Jefferson monument, now standing on the campus of the Missouri University, was designed by Mr. Jefferson himself a short time before his death. It consists of an obelisk of rough granite six feet high, resting on a plain base of the same material three feet high. On one face of the obelisk is a marble tablet with this inscription:

HERE WAS BURIED
THOMAS JEFFERSON,
Author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom, and the Father of the University of Virginia.

In the summer of 1883, at the suggestion and request of President S. S. LAWS, with the aid of Professor Fleet, this monument, which had for more than half a century marked the burial place of Mr. Jefferson at Monticello, having been displaced by a new and larger one voted by the Congress of the United States, was presented to the University of Missouri by the Misses Randolph of Virginia, great-grandchildren of Mr. Jefferson. It is an object of national interest, and will be more and more cherished by the older alumni of the University of Virginia, scattered throughout the West, to whom this stone will be a pleasant reminder of their visits to that Mecca of civil and religious freedom.

Men Who Stay.

Young mechanics make a very egregious mistake, says the Builder's Gazette, when they begin to think that they do too much for their employers when they work a few moments over time to complete a small task they are performing, just at the time the whistle blows to quit work. More young men have been kept from receiving an advance in their wages from this than from any known cause.

Employers watch the movements of young men very closely, and the least little thing oftentimes places them in an unfavorable light before their employers. It is the young man who studies the interest of his employer, and is not afraid to give him a few moments, that gets the rapid advancement. He is the young man to be selected when there are any favors to be granted.

I can tell in twenty minutes in any workshop the young man who is most likely to succeed in his trade. He is the last to leave his work, and is always prompt in biginning it. Those fellows that drop their work at the moment the whistle blows are always the ones that the employer is ready to discharge when business gets a little slack.

The young man who takes the interest of his work at heart, and his employer into consideration, is very rarely laid off in slack times.

Charging for Knowing How.

"I paid a bill the other day without a murmur," said a large manufacturer, "simply because of the way it was worded. My engineer found that his hot-water pipe would not work, and, after puttering at it for an hour, sent for a machinist. He both ered with it for half a day, and concluded that it must come apart. I was much annoyed, for that meant the stoppage of my factory for a long time. Before I gave the order to take it to pieces some one suggested that a neighboring engineer be sent for, as he was a sort of genius in the matter of machinery. He came, and, after studying the pump awhile, took a hammer, and gave three sharp raps over the valve. 'I reckon she'll go now,' he quietly said; and, putting on steam, 'she' did go. The next day I received a bill from him for $25.50. The price amazed me, but when I had examined the items I drew a check at once. The bill read this way: 'Messrs. Blank and Co., Dr. to John Smith. For fixing pump, 50 cents. For knowing how, $25.00.' Had he charged me $25.50 for fixing the pump I should have considered it exorbitant. But 50 cents was reasonable, and as I recognized the value of knowledge I paid most cheerfully, and said nothing."

Woman's Place and Work.

Churchman.]

The faith of the women of the Gospels far outstripped that of the men of the Gospels. Women "loved much," and women believed much, and women exhibited unwavering fidelity, while one apostle hated Christ, and another doubted his resurrection, and a third denied him. It is the gentler, the weaker, the more emotional sex who perceive, then accept, and finally are carried away with those great and vital enthusiasms which transform and elevate the world. It is the sisters, mothers and wives who carry out in their lives the pattern of love, purity and self-denial which is still on earth a continuation of Christ's life, an incarnation of divine grace and loveliness which never fails, which now can suffer no passion and no death, but speaks aloud to men, and sanctifies the child, and refines the brother, and acts upon the heart of the husband with a ceaseless plea for what is good and what is divine.

Eighty Miles an Hour.

A special train bearing 150 Pennsylvania editors was run on the 15th of July from Baltimore to Washington at an extraordinarily fast gait. It left Baltimore at noon, and thirty-five minutes later had traveled forty-two miles and was in the railroad station at Washington. The speed averaged 72 miles an hour, or, allowing for starting and stopping, at least 80 miles for the greater part of the run.

The South to Lead in Manufacturing Paper and Fibres.

The Manufacturers' Record has special information from authoritative sources which points to the early establishment in the South of paper manufacturing on a large scale, and the development of great fibre interests. The American Fibre Association, of New York, with a capital of $50,000,000, has been organized to take up everything new and utilize everything old that might be made available in the fibre line. The company is perfecting plans which in scope and importance are in keeping with its enormous capitalization. The Judge Publishing Company's fibre business, on which it has been working several years, has been absorbed by the Fibre Association. The latter is also largely interested in the production of fibre from "cat tails," ramie and cotton stalks, and has recently taken up the matter of flax. It is manufacturing at Fernandina a plaster fibre from the palmetto, which is to be used as a substitute for hair.

Paper manufacturing, however, is the particular business upon which the efforts of the company will be concentrated for the time being, and this will be done in such a way that a revolution in the paper trade is predicted by those in a position to judge. The association has closed a contract, running several years, with the Cotton Oil Trust to utilize its 300,000 tons per annum of cotton seed hulls, from which, it is claimed, a paper can be manufactured by the Association's patent process vastly superior in quality to that in use for book and news print, and at a cost hitherto unheard of. The best part of it all is that the Association will build its mills in the South, and the South will enjoy the benefits of cheaper and better paper for its own consumption, besides acquiring the new population and wealth which will come with the paper industry.

This great enterprise, which is backed by some of the leading financiers of the country, will prove a source of enormous wealth to the South. In addition to utilizing 300,000 tons of cotton seed hulls annually for paper manufacture, this company will develop all branches of the fibre business.

A Good Man's Tenderness.

Boys are sometimes tempted to think that to be tender-hearted is to be weak and unmanly. Yet the tenderest heart may be associated with the strongest and most forcible mind and will. Take, for example, the story told of him to whom we owe our wonderful railway system. George Stephenson went one day into an upper room of his house and closed the window. It had been left open a long time because of the fierce heat, but now the weather was becoming cooler, and so Mr. Stephenson thought it would be well to shut it. He little knew at the time what he was doing. Two or three days afterward, however, he observed a bird flying against that same window, and beating against it with all its might, again and again, as if trying to break it. His sympathy and curiosity were aroused. What could the little thing want? He at once went to the room and opened the window to see. The window opened, the bird flew straight to one particular spot in the room, where Stephenson saw a nest, that little bird's nest. The poor bird looked at it, took the sad story in at a glance and fluttered down to the floor, broken-hearted, almost dead.

Stephenson, drawing near to look, was filled with unspeakable sorrow. There sat the mother bird and under it four tiny little ones, mother and all apparently dead. Stephenson cried aloud. He tenderly lifted the exhausted bird from the floor, the worm it had so long and bravely struggled to bring to its home and young still in its beak, and earnestly tried to revive it, but all his earnest efforts were in vain. It speedily died, and the great man mourned for many a day. At that time the force of George Stephenson's mind was changing the face of the earth, yet he wept at the sight of this dead family, and was deeply grieved because he had himself unconsciously been the cause of their death.

Another Romance Exploded.

N. Y. Sun.]

The idea that A. T. Stewart began life in New York penniless is so deeply rooted in the public mind that it is doubtful if people will ever comprehend the true facts. Very few men have as good a chance for a commercial opening as had the great dry goods prince. His entire fortune was placed in his hands when he was twenty years of age, and he was allowed to do exactly as he pleased with it. The fortune amounted to considerably over $20,000. The first purchase which Stewart made was in the shape of a big consignment of Irish linens in Belfast. A lot of the $20,000 went into this primary transaction, and, after he had sold the goods at a little shop on the corner of Broadway and Chambers streets, he found that he had nearly doubled his fortune, so that a year after he had established his business he had nearly $40,000 in cash and a good credit already established. With such an equipment at twenty-one years, his subsequent success loses something of its marvelous character, particularly when it is remembered that the war trebled the value of all the big commercial houses like that of A. T. Stewart & Co.

Our Exports.

For the year ending June 30th, 1890, we exported 54,331,147 bushels of wheat and 12,192,337 barrels of flour, aggregating 109,196,663 bushels of wheat and worth $102,074,524; while we exported 101,731,527 bushels of corn, worth $42,557,857. The average value of the wheat was but 83 cents, while ten years ago it was $1.25, and the average value of corn last year was but 42 cents against 54 cents ten years ago. Our breadstuff exports in 1890 were worth $288,000,000, while for the year just past they were only $154,000,000. Our cotton this year, however, has sold better than usual, and our cotton exports brought us $250,000,000. Provisions also brought us more money than usual, footing up $157,561,000.

A Fearful Bequest.

A dying inebriate in Oswego, N. Y., left his "last will and testament." "I leave to society a ruined character, a wretched example, and a memory that will soon rot. I leave to my parents as much sorrow as they can in their feeble state bear. I leave to my brother and sisters as much shame and mortification as I could bring on them. I leave to my wife a broken heart—a life of shame. I leave to each of my children poverty, ignorance, a low character, and a remembrance that their father filled a drunkard's grave. For drunkards to read when they have time."

☞ Old Lady—Ah, you naughty boy! Draggin' your little brother along in that way! S'posin' you was to kill him?

Bad Boy—I don't care; got another in the house.

☞ A housemaid who sits down immediately after she has finished her sweeping need not consider it tantamont to a dismissal if told to "get up and dust."

Woman Unhappy Without Love.

Louise Chandler Moulton in Home Journal.]

I am curious to know whether a woman into whose life love has never entered can ever have been happy. I do not think so. She may have found the quiet garden of which content keeps the keys. She may be reconciled to her fate, and console herself by thinking how much better off she is than if she were unhappily married; but such dull resignation is not even first-consin to the rapture of joy. I am old-fashioned, perhaps, in my ideas; but I honestly think that real happiness comes to a woman hand in hand with love.

When she begins to feel that, with one man in it the room is full, and empty when he is gone, no matter how many others may remain, she begins to be tremulously, deliciously, deliriously happy. But that is only the beginning; and if love holds happiness by the hand, fear stands at either elbow. A word too many or too few—a smile that does not go her way—and the girl suffers as much as she has just enjoyed. Her very soul hungers within her for some clear certainty. And when that comes—when her troth is plighted—is that her happiest moment? She does not think so then: for she is looking forward to her bridal morning.

The day of days comes at last, and the new life begins. Is that, then, the happiest moment? Hardly, for the very most loving people who ever lived are not quite one, to begin with, and they must learn to live together. A year—a year of mutual forbearance, of getting well acquainted—a happy year; and now they look into each other's eyes fearlessly. They are one at last, and for all time!

Surely that is the happiest moment? I had made up my mind to say so; but—is it?

Ah, I think, after all, the happiest moment is when love is a sweet, shy newcomer, and hope leads it by the hand.

A Sad Story.

Raleigh Chronicle.]

MOREHEAD, N. C., July 29.—There is much melancholy interest here over the finding of a note in a bottle, which tells a sad tale of death from cold and starvation. The note was written on a small piece of paper torn from a memorandum book, and is very difficult to read, but this morning with the assistance of half a dozen editors I managed to make it all out except one or two lines. It is as follows:

January 22, 1889.

On Schooner Viola—South West of Cape Hatteras. [Here follow two lines which I cannot read.] I am almost dead with starvation—2 out the 35 are left to starve unless—(cannot make it out) by morning we shall freeze to death.

Loaded with lumber from St. John's river, Florida, bound to Portland. We Ben out 71 days. Writer is a man who does not fear death from the consequences of the hereafter. Having been raised by a Christian mother, who out of the entire family alone survives.

The finder of this will please forward to her at Charleston, S. C., Mrs. D. E. Evans, 671 Eutaw Square. Our foremast and mainmast were carried off three weeks ago, and all the fresh water was lost.

D. A. EVANS.

Am cold and starving.

This letter will be forwarded to the Charleston News and Courier, with the request that it be delivered to the mother of the unfortunate man.

A Child's Heroism.

A little boy's heroism was tested not long ago through a mistake. The editor of a contemporary relates that a gentleman in a New England town proposed to drive with his wife to the beautiful cemetery beside the river beyond the town. Calling his son, a bright little boy some four years old, he told him to get ready to accompany them. The child's countenance fell, and the father said, "Don't you want to go, Willie?" The lip quivered, but the child answered, trustfully, "Yes papa, if you wish." The child was strangely silent during the drive, and when the carriage drove under the wide archway he clung to his mother's side, and looked up in her face with pathetic wistfulness. They alighted and walked among the graves along the tree-shaded avenues, looking at the inscriptions on the last resting-place of the dwellers in the beautiful city of the dead. After an hour or so thus spent they returned to the carriage, and the father lifted his little son to his seat. The child looked surprised, and drew a breath of relief and asked, "Why, am I going back with you?" "Of course you are; why not?" "I thought when they took little boys to the cemetery they left them there," said the child. Many a man does not show the heroism in the face of death that the child evinced in what to him had evidently been a summons to leave the world.

The Prisoner Seconded the Motion.

American (N. Y.) Democrat.]

I heard a pretty good story about a certain ignorant justice who does business up in Fulton county. The justice was elected over an able but very unpopular lawyer, and his first case was that of a prisoner charged with violating the fishery law. The complaint and warrant were defective, and this the defendant's attorney took exceptions to in a masterly argument, winding up by moving the prisoner's discharge. "Is the motion seconded?" asked the justice. "It is," replied the prisoner. "Gentlemen," continued the judge, "it is regularly moved and seconded that the prisoner be discharged. All those in favor of the motion say aye. "Aye," came from the prisoner and counsel. "Opposed, no." Silence followed, and after a short pause the scales-holder said: "The motion is carried and the prisoner is discharged," whereupon, to the surprise and amusement of all, court was declared adjourned.

Immigration.

It is estimated that the number of immigrants into the United States last year is about 100,000 less than 1888, when there were a little over 500,000. There has been a steady decline since 1882, when the tide reached its highest point—720,000. Germany continues to send the largest number—nearly 100,000. England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales combined send 140,000. The total for 1889 will complete the record for seventy years. These will show that the United States have received from foreign countries, since 1820, an aggregate of about 15,000,000 people, of whom Great Britain has sent about 6,000,000, Germany about 4,500,000, Norway and Sweden about 800,000 and France about 350,000. Ireland alone has sent near 3,500,000.

The Whole of It.

A man who had foolishly ventured upon a verbal contest with his wife was met, as he was retiring from the scene, by his little son, who had just begun to study grammar.

"Papa," said the child, "what part of speech is woman?"

"She isn't any part of speech at all, Gregory; she's the whole of it."

BENJ. F. GRADY.

We copy from the Clinton Caucasian the following succinct but interesting biographical sketch of the Representative for the 3rd district in the next Congress, which which will be perused with attention by our readers as a suitable addendum to the article of last week:

Mr. B. F. Grady was born in Albertson township, Duplin county, in 1831, raised on a farm and attended school a few months in winters. Prepared by Rev. J. M. Sprunt, Kenansville, for college, entered the University of North Carolina in 1853 and graduated in 1857 with highest honors. Taught then two years in Kenansville in partnership with Rev. Mr. Sprunt. In 1859 was elected Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science in Austin College, then located in Huntsville, Texas. Filled that chair with eminent ability till the war broke out, when he patriotically shouldered his musket and served faithfully in the Mississippi Department till captured and lodged in camp Butler near Springfield, Illinois. Exchanged in April, 1863, he was sent to Bragg's army at Tullahoma, Tenn., in which he served till the close of the war in the Division commanded by Maj. Gen. Patrick R. Cleburne. He was wounded twice in the charge made by his command on the enemy's works at Franklin, Tenn. At the close of the war, finding himself in North Carolina, he chose to remain here teaching school at Clinton, Sampson county, and other places, until he commenced farming in 1877. In 1879 he removed from Clinton to his old home in Duplin, where he now resides.

SHAMELESS AND INFAMOUS.

All sorts of reading is in a sense necessary to complete the furnishing of a well-informed man; and even the following, taken from the National Republican, is not without its use and value, as showing the malevolence dwelling in the hearts of the extremists of the Republican party, and the goal to which they aspire, should the day ever come that their control of all departments of the government and every section of the country is complete:

When, through the operation of the Lodge National Election Law, six or seven Southern States shall discard Democratic rule, we shall look confidently to see some measure of justice done the blacks who have been so long defrauded of their rights.

Heavy taxes should be laid upon the property of the whites to develop and extend the public school system in those States, separate schools for the two races should be abolished, and the plan of bringing the youth of both colors into close and equal relations in schools and churches given a fair trial, as one of the most potent elements to break down the detestable Bourbonism of the South. The right of the black to bear arms should be guaranteed to him, as well as all the social rights intended to be secured him by the passage of the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution. The State laws against the intermarriage of the races should be repealed, and any discriminations against the black in the matters of learning trades or obtaining employment should be made a criminal offence, while the colored man's right to hold office should be sacredly protected and recognized. A few years of this policy will solve the race problem satisfactorily.

The talk of Southern Democratic Congressmen in the House on Lodge's National Election Law bill reminds one of the fiery diatribes of Southern Representatives just before the war. But the plantation whip was cracked in vain this time. It has been a long time since then, and the world—all but the Southern section of the United States—has grown wiser.

The spirit which dictated the above outpouring of bitterness and hatred is not new among men. It is the demon of incendiarism—of destructiveness—of communism. It lifted its ugly head along with the slow-awakening love of liberty in France a century ago; and, insinuating its hideous form in the current which swept patriotic men on to freedom, battened on the blood of the Revolution, held its orgies amid the crimson sawdust of the guillotine with Marat, Danton and Robespierre as its high priests, and mercilessly sought its victims among the infirm, frail and helpless, from the crowned queen to the mother kneeling at the family altar. Later, under the very ægis of this great republic, it gathered strength and vigor in the rank soil of political license, and sent the gray-haired old fanatic, "Ossawattamie" Brown, to the shambles of Harper's Ferry, with the brilliant, gifted young Cook at his side—while the insidious apostles of the atrocious doctrines that put the musket in the hands of the insurrectionist skulked in their libraries and editorial sanctums.

Yes, the anarchist cry of the National Republican is not a strange sound even in this enlightened land, and fifty years ago it incited the emissaries of abolitionism to a world of mischief. Its mission was then, as it is now, the fomenting of strife, the disruption of society and the perversion of law and order—and, until the better sense of the North strangles it once for all, it will remain an insuperable bar to a prosperous and peaceful union of the American people.

JUDGE MacRAE WITHDRAWS.

While the highly honorable motives which prompt his action cannot fail to elicit general admiration, the friends of Judge MacRae throughout North Carolina will regret his withdrawal from the candidacy for the Supreme Court Bench, in a recent letter to the editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, of which we give the text in full:

DEAR SIR:—Will you please announce to my friends throughout the State that I have determined not to permit my name to be offered to the State convention as a candidate for the office of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

I am impelled to this step by the circulation of an anonymous circular reflecting upon the reputation of gentlemen for whom I have a high regard and esteem.

I could never accept preferment secured by the aid of covert and clandestine attack, and I am sure that my friends would have no such assistance in their efforts to put me in a position which is worth nothing unless obtained by pure and honorable means.

I take this opportunity to express my grateful thanks to all those who have so overwhelmed me with messages of confidence, and to assure them that I shall bear with me into the retiracy of private life a satisfaction begotten of their esteem.

I regard the members of the Supreme Court as at present constituted as well worthy of the confidence and support of the people of this State.

A "Tar Heel" Honored Abroad.

Rev. A. G. Emmerson, a native of Chatham county, this State, and a graduate of Wake Forest College, and brother-in-law to our townsman, J. B. Underwood, Esq., has just been elected President of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, Texas. For many years Mr. Emmerson has successfully and satisfactorily filled a professorship in William Jewel College, Liberty, Mo. He left North Carolina about the year 1870, and was at one time owner of the extensive Ore Hill mineral property, including the celebrated Mt. Vernon Springs, and was well and favorably known throughout this section.

Manchester Cullings.

For the Observer.]

Ardnave, the beautiful home of Mr. A. K. McDiarmid—with spacious parlors, inviting piazzas, cool nooks and many twinkling luminous lights—welcomed a throng of youth and beauty within its hospitable portals Tuesday night, July 29th. Nature had wept till the sinking of her sun, and still had a cloudy brow; but soon the stars pinned back the fleecy clouds, disclosing the "queen of the night." Sweet as æolian harps was the throbbing, thrilling music wafted to us, "for night was made for song." Graceful Miss Winnie Hicks awakened the soul of the grand piano; sweet strains rippled from her finger tips, touching the hearts of kindred spirits. To her is due a great part of the success of the evening. Charming Miss Little enraptured all by singing many old favorites in her sweet, pure, girlish voice. Mrs. A. K. McDiarmid, the lovely hostess, with her characteristic loveableness, made all feel at home and welcome. The supper could not be surpassed by a chef de cuisine in the heart of "London town." Exquisite flowers and table paraphernalia prevailed. Afterwards fascinating Terpsichore entertained in her most refined array until the "wee sma hours," and soon tired Morpheus drew the curtain.

We each again thank our host and hostess, their beautiful daughter, Miss Janie (the belle of the ball) and handsome James, Grandma West and tiny Eloise for a most delightful evening.

Mr. and Mrs. McD. Williams, A. J. Cook, Jennings Pemberton, Archie Wightman, George Underwood, Louis Hines, Robt. McIver, Doyle O'Hanlon, Arthur Williams, D. M. Fairley, Watson Fairley; Misses Mary and Kate Underwood, Janie and Winnie Hicks, Katie Fairley, Nannie Little, Isabelle Fairley, Eliza Williams, Joanna Costin, Janie Fairley, Hennie Mason, Mrs. M. D. Clarke, were of the pleasant party.

A moonlight picnic was enjoyed by many of us, and the many fair visitors enhanced the pleasure; again Ardnave was the well-chosen spot.

Miss Joanna Costin, Miss Nannie Little and Mr. Arthur Williams returned to their homes, and left aching voids in many hearts.

Mrs. Wakefield has arrived, much to his delight.

Misses Maggie Hall and Alice Lee, after a sojourn in Wilmington, have returned home.

Miss Frieda Buhman spent Sunday here with relatives.

A crowd left the "springs" this week—a regular "wash out."

Mr. and Mrs. Pearsall, of Robeson county, passed through here last week on their way to Summerville; spent one night in hospitable Ardnave.

Mr. Robert Morrison, one of our smartest boys, has been home on a visit; looked quite handsome, a la militaire. BON AMI.

Items from Buckhorn.

For the Observer.]

The prospects of the crops in this neighborhood are encouraging. The cotton crop is especially fine—best in years past.

The Alliance is still progressing and membership increasing instead of decreasing. I do not think that the Alliance in Cedar Creek township will take any active part in politics. The Alliance only wants good men.

Everybody is very well-pleased with the nomination of Mr. Grady, of Duplin, though we prefer Col. Green, as he has a great national influence, and could do more for the benefit of the people than any other man in the district.

We are going for one man "tooth and toe-nail," and he is not an Alliance man, but is in sympathy with the order; that is Chas. G. Cain, who has served us for nearly four years, and we think he is still worthy of our admiration and our votes.

The writer had the pleasure of attending an Alliance picnic at Long Branch school-house in the southern part of the township. The picnic was a grand success. It was under the management of Mr. E. T. Usher, President of the Alliance. Speeches were made by Maj. Jonathan Evans and Mr. Davis. There were many charming ladies present from Bladen to cooperate with those of Cedar Creek. I think there were about 1,000 people present, and all were invited to the table, which was 100 yards long and filled from end to end, and I think there were several basketfuls left.

The protracted meeting commenced at Macedonia on Sunday, 27th ult. Rev. W. R. Johnson and the Rev. Mr. Newbeury, of Fayetteville, were assisting the pastor, Rev. Mr. Beard.

Very nearly everybody went on the Baptist excursion on the 29th. I think there were about 175 tickets sold at Stedman.

CHILDREN ENJOY

Interesting Railroad and Other Items.

For the Observer.]

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C., Aug't 3rd, '90.

MESS. EDITORS:—I hope you will give a little space to your old correspondent, who is down here railroading for a season on the Charleston, Sumpter & Northern R. R. This road was completed last year from Charleston to Sumpter; now it is rapidly being built from Sumpter to Bennettsville. Track laying was commenced here last Saturday, so as to lay it to the Pee Dee river, and to bring the iron bridge by rail. Gillis & Pitts, who have the contract for grading from Bennettsville to Pee Dee river, will have it completed before October 1st, and Williams & Turley, contractors for the 4,000 ft. trestling, will have their contract completed by October 1st.

Crops are just splendid in this section. Cotton never looked better.

We have ten Cumberland boys here, and all say nominate McGill and Sutton for the House, J. B. Smith for Sheriff, and H. L. Hall for Register, and we will all go home to vote. Success to the Democrats of Cumberland; with this ticket everyone, I think, will be satisfied. Excuse haste.

A Negro's Horrible Death.

Greensboro Patriot, Aug. 1st.]

At four o'clock this morning Schofield Gantt, alias Merrit, met a horrible death on the railroad near the depot.

He was walking down the track of the Richmond & Danville road toward the freight depot. Approaching him on the main line was the shifting engine known as the "hog," going south, and on the side-track, running parallel to the main line, another shifting engine, No. 681, was backing down in the direction Gantt was going, pushing a flat and a box-car. Gantt stepped off the main line on the side-track without noticing the approach of the shifting engine. As the "hog" passed Gantt, the fireman called to him, warning him of his danger and blew the whistle, but the negro evidently did not understand the warning, as he continued on down the side-track, and in a moment more was struck by the backing flat and thrown across the rail. The wheels of the flat, box-car, tender and one wheel of the engine passed over his body, cutting it entirely in two at the waist, mangling one leg, grinding one arm to pieces and scattering flesh, blood and entrails along the track for fifty feet. Gantt called for help as the train was rolling over him, and, when it stopped, begged to be taken out.

This was done, and his horribly mangled body laid on a truck skid. He never lost consciousness, and as he lay there in the cold gray shadows of the early dawn, with the lower extremities held to the upper part of his body by slender threads of muscle, he talked calmly of his suffering and left messages for his people, glancing now and then at his mangled arm and at his bloody entrails lying beside him. He talked for three-quarters of an hour, until he died.

His body was put in a box car and brought to the depot, and at 4 o'clock this evening it still lay there, waiting, we suppose, until the coroner could get here from Jamestown.

No blame can attach to the railroad for the negro's death. It was due, as he said before he died, to his own carelessness. He stated that he did not understand the fireman's warning, and did not know that the train that killed him was approaching.

Pandemonium in South Carolina.

NEW YORK, August 2.—A special to the Press from Charleston, S. C., says that the campaign in that State becomes more bitter and more personal every day. The meeting at Hampton Court-House, the home of State Senator Moore, whom Tillman has charged with perjury in voting in the Senate, yesterday was one of personalities and interruptions instead of issues. Farmer Tillman was the speaker.

The friends of Moore asked Tillman to name those he charged with perjury. He did so, and as soon as he uttered the name "Moore," Mr. A. P. Youmans made his way to the front, and said in a ringing voice, with clinched fist and glowing eyes: "Capt. Tillman you are a liar—a black liar. Prove it on him. We rammed the lie down your dirty throat at Ridgeway. You lied then, and you know it."

Others yelled out to Tillman that he was a liar. Then there was a rush for Youmans. His coat was caught. Men caught hold of each other, and for sometime trouble was imminent. Tillman's followers rushed him to the front, and dared anyone to touch him.

Pandemonium reigned for some time. At last, things quieted down, and the speeches were continued amid frequent interruptions.

Killed by a Policeman.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 2.—There was an exciting affair on one of the public streets here this afternoon. A mulatto named James Jones, about 45 years old, who was drunk, attacked a man and knocked him down. Another man ran up and attempted to stop the fight, and prevent Jones from inflicting serious injuries. Jones at once attacked the second man, and police officer Hogue attempted to arrest Jones and was knocked down, and Jones then ran, and refusing to halt the officer fired at him as he ran along the sidewalk. One of the bullets struck W. F. Betts, a white clerk, in the leg and another struck Jones. The officer in a few moments caught Jones, and holding a revolver close to his side shot him through the abdomen. Jones died in half an hour. Hogue was at once arrested and a police inquiry held. The negroes gathered in large numbers, and there was much talk about the shooting. Jones was a farm hand and a quiet man when sober, but when drunk was like a madman.

Wind and Hail.

MASON CITY, IOWA, August 5.—A destructive wind and hail storm swept over Lyons, Osceola, Dickinson, Emmet and Winnebago counties Sunday, destroying nearly everything in its pathway. Many horses and cattle were killed, and men who were out were badly cut by the hail, and several are reported seriously injured. The track of the storm was about fourteen miles wide, following an eastward path to the Minnesota line. Hail stones as large as hen eggs fell to the depth of six inches. Flax, which was a heavy crop, was entirely ruined. Wheat and oats in shock were so badly damaged as not to be worth threshing. Several houses were blown down, and it would take thousands of dollars to cover the damage to farms alone.

Dr. W. S. Black to Succeed Dr. Dixon.

News and Observer.]

With our congratulations to him and to Oxford, go our deepest regrets at losing him from our midst.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For further particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial Bottles of this wonderful Discovery Free at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug-store.

A GOOD THING.

We wish to call the attention of housekeepers and the public generally to a few points in favor of the "Hull Vapor Stove" for which we are sole agents here.

The first point in its favor is economy, inasmuch as the cost of fuel consumed is less than one-half of that consumed by any other stove.

Second—Convenience. No wood to cut up, stow away and carry into the house; no ashes to carry out; no smoke; no odor; ready for cooking in one minute, doing away with the necessity of cutting splinters on a cold, damp morning.

The heat can be regulated at will by a simple turn of the valve.

It is absolutely and entirely safe. There is but one tiny needle valve through which the fluid can come out. There is absolutely no other point of issue for the fluid. You cannot, by any means, contrive to explode it.

Over one million in use!

Over 150,000 sold last year, and every one giving satisfaction

You can thoroughly test it in your own home one week before buying it.

Respectfully,

S. SHEETZ & SONS.

The Water of Life,

From Mount Vernon Springs, Chatham County, N. C.

LOCATION.

It is located in a beautiful little village, one mile from Ore Hill Station on the C. F. & Y. V. R. R., 40 miles south of Greensboro. The location is free from all malarial influences.

DESCRIPTION.

Here one finds mineral water of fine quality in a spring five feet deep. It is pleasant to the taste, cool and light as air itself. Marvellous cures in dyspepsia have been effected by the use of the water, and cutaneous diseases which have baffled medical skill have yielded to it. The water is not surpassed by any mineral water in the State.

It acts powerfully upon the kidneys, causes the urine to flow freely, and corrects entirely that extreme acidity of the urine which is often so painful; it also acts gently upon the bowels; it being especially good to aid digestion, stimulates the appetite, corrects the acidity of the stomach, and builds up the system.

It bubbles up through a crevice in a rock; wet or dry weather it never increases or diminishes in flow.

MT. VERNON SPRINGS HOTEL,

J. M. Foust, Owner and Proprietor, Mount Vernon Springs, N. C.

One mile from Ore Hill. Comfortable Rooms. Fare Good. Conveyance meet trains.

Terms: $1.50 to $2.00 per day; $7.00 per week; $20.00 to $25.00 per month of four weeks. Special rates to families. Correspondence solicited, and any information gladly given.

This place is second to none as a Summer Resort for those who like a quiet, home-like place. A charming spot to those who seek a place of rest and recreation.

The house is large and comfortable, with 500 feet of piazza running the entire length of the three buildings. The addition of 10 rooms at the west end gives 40 rooms. The rooms are large enough and well ventilated. From the piazza one overlooks the springs and scans the fine prospect beyond.

Around the premises is a dense oak forest through which comes a bracing breeze.

For the amusement of the guests there is a good ten pin alley and ball room. Beautiful shady walks and drives in every direction.

It may be truthfully said nature has done a wonderful part here.

No mosquitoes nor gnats. No stagnant water any where near. The drainage is perfect.

REV. SAM. P. JONES
REV. J. B. HAWTHORNE
WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT
DR. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

The following is an extract from a letter written by the World Renowned Evangelist:

"I returned from Tyler, Texas, on the 12th inst. I find my wife has been taking Royal Germetuer to the GREAT UPBUILDING of her physical system. She is now almost free from the distressing headaches with which she has been a MARTYR for twenty years. Surely it has done wonders for her! I WISH EVERY POOR SUFFERING WIFE HAD ACCESS TO THAT MEDICINE."

Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, Pastor First Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., was cured of a long standing case of Catarrh. His wife had been an invalid from nervous headache, neuralgia, and rheumatism FOR THIRTY YEARS, scarcely having a day's exemption from pain. After taking Royal Germetuer two months, he writes: "A more complete transformation I have never witnessed. EVERY SYMPTOM OF DISEASE HAS DISAPPEARED. She appears to be twenty years younger, and is as happy and playful as a healthy child. We have persuaded many of our friends to take the medicine, and the testimony of all of them is that it is a great remedy."

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is a boon to women. It builds up the strength, increases the appetite, aids digestion, relieves them of the pains of disease, and insures health.

It is an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Insomnia, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Palpitation, Liver, Bladder and Kidney Diseases, Chills and Fevers, Catarrh, all Blood and Skin Diseases, Female Troubles, etc.

Prompted by a desire to reach more suffering people, the price has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. For sale by the

and by Druggists. If your Druggist can not supply you, it can be sent by express.

Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc.

"Attention, Ladies of Cumberland Co."

DR. MCGILL'S Orange Blossom cures and is worth its weight in gold to any suffering girl or woman. By addressing Mrs. B. F. Miller, Defiance, N. C., and enclosing a 2 cent stamp, ladies of Cumberland County will receive free of charge, a sample box of this valuable remedy, Dr. McGill's plain talk to the ladies, and full particulars, as over ten thousand ladies in North Carolina alone have tested the merits of this wonderful cure, and many of them have requested that their names be given for reference. Those who wish to enquire can easily be convinced that whatever the failures of the past have been, we have in Orange Blossom a permanent and entirely safe cure for the stubborn forms of female weakness which have so baffled the skill of our best physicians, and held the mothers and daughters of our land prisoners in their iron grasp.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Elected Chairman.

At the meeting of the County Board of Education on Monday last Col. W. Alderman was elected Chairman.

Merited Promotion.

Mr. J. H. Roberts, Jr.—whom Mr. G. W. Lake takes pleasure in speaking of in high terms for his efficiency and attention to duty—has been promoted in the service of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company, and his brother, Mr. E. Roberts, has taken the place which he has long satisfactorily filled.

On to the Encampment.

The Lumber Bridge Light Infantry, presenting a handsome appearance—Capt. Malloy in command, with Lieuts. Cobb and Shaw and Orderly Sergeant R. McMillan—stopped over here Tuesday on the way to the Encampment. In physique and personnel it is one of the finest companies in the State Guard.

A Fine-Looking Body.

The community has cause for pride in the Knights of Pythias Lodge of this city. Over and above its strength in numbers, an appearance in a body in public gives gratifying evidence of the excellent material of which the organization is composed:—representative men of all classes, avocations and professions.

In New Quarters.

Superior Court of Moore convenes next week, Judge Graves on the bench, and the business will be transacted in the new courthouse building, which is said to be one of the handsomest structures of the kind in the State. We congratulate the people of Carthage and the county—they are deserving of all good fortune.

What the Matter Was.

"Mr. Blank," said a Dick street householder the other day, in a tone of warm remonstrance, to his milkman, "What in thunder is the matter with your milk? It has a queer, woody taste."

"Oh, well, it will be all right in a day or two; I've been having a new curb put in the well." [There's candor for you!]

The Democratic Executive Committee.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Third Congressional District, in Clinton, immediately after the adjournment of the convention, Dr. Cyrus W. Thompson, of Onslow, was elected chairman, and Z. W. Whitehead, of Cumberland, secretary. The post office address of the chairman is Richlands, N. C.

A Very Narrow Escape.

Mr. Neill Johnson, while walking along Hogg street, near the residence of Mr. Geo. P. McNeill, last Sunday morning at about 11 o'clock, was prostrated to the earth by a severe lightning flash, burning his face and hand. On recovering himself he found the wire on the ribs of his umbrella and the handle broken—whether from the electric shock or from his fall he does not know.

Oak Ridge Institute.

Profs. J. A. & M. H. Holt request us to let the public interested in the opening of an excellent and very flourishing school know that the fall session of Oak Ridge Institute will commence on the 13th of this month.

Reunions of old students of the Institute are being held in different parts of the State, a very pleasant one taking place recently at Winston, with banquet, toasts, reminiscent talks, etc.

The Democratic Band.

We learn that a festival or other entertainment is in contemplation, as a benefit for the new "Fayetteville Democratic Band," and many ladies (who, among their multitude of good qualities, are the best Democrats this side of heaven) have expressed a willingness to extend all the aid in their power. A meeting will soon be held to shape a plan for the entertainment, for which we bespeak in advance general and hearty encouragement.

Not This Fayetteville.

An exchange has the following item of news:

A poor washerwoman at Fayetteville, Ark., who a few days ago was notified that she had been granted a pension and would receive $5,000 back pay, was so overcome with joy that she died.

That will do very well for Fayeteville, Ark., but not for this city, where the washerwomen accumulate such fabulous fortunes that a windfall of $5,000 would not raise a kink on their heads in excitement.

Attention, Please.

Your attention is directed this week especially to the following new advertisements:

Thursday Evening's Entertainment.

Those who made themselves useful, ornamental and conspicuous by their presence at the entertainment in Williams Hall last Thursday evening were well repaid for the bestowal of their time and the moderate expenditure of their cash. Deft hands and faultless taste had embellished the hall, stage and tables with artistic grouping of bunting, banners and evergreen, the gypsy grotto and camp being especially attractive, while the little children found much merriment in the "witcher's tub."

After the opening chorus excellent instrumental and vocal music was rendered by Miss Mary Worth at the piano, Miss Morgie Worth in solo, and Mr. Wm. S. Sheetz with the cornet. There were many fantastic, graceful and elegant toilettes in the hall, and the girls and young matrons were even more than usually charming and lovely. The refreshment tables evidenced the skill and supervision of the best of housewives, and the bill-of-fare (including coffee that was perfection) at the table where we enjoyed supper would not have shamed the larder of Green's, in Philadelphia, or Pinard's, in New York.

During the evening scores of packages of precious stuffs and merchandise, bric-a-brac and bijouterie, were auctioned off, and many very valuable articles went for a mere song. We saw some of the fortunate buyers furtively open their parcels after the sale was over, stand amazed at the wealth suddenly displayed before their eyes, clap their hands to their foreheads in a frenzy of delight—put on their hats, and go right home.

We have not ascertained the net proceeds of the entertainment, but hope that a good sum was realized for the Armory Fund.

A Good Time Coming Right Away.

We are glad to know that all the indications are for a very successful fair and industrial exhibition at Red Springs next week, commencing on the 14th inst., and continuing three days, while the reunion of the good people of the Cape Fear and Pee Dee sections will be such as has not been enjoyed for many a long year. Mr. Covington, of the Farmer and Scottish Chief, who has been zealously working for months in the interests of the fair, informs us that the success of the first exhibition promises to be very gratifying in every respect.

On Thursday, after a procession starting from the campus in front of the Red Springs Hotel, the exercises will be formally opened with religious services by Rev. Dr. H. G. Hill, assisted by other clergymen. A chapter of the Bible will be read in Gaelic by Mr. Alex. McArthur, of Cumberland county. The opening address will be delivered by Chancellor W. D. Johnson, of Marion, S. C. The remainder of the day will be devoted to the enjoyment of the exhibit and trials of speed on the race-track.

On Friday Senator Vance and Hon. G. W. Sanderlin are expected to address the people, while excellent running and trotting races will contribute to the general entertainment.

On Saturday the Annual Picnic will take place, and the Soldiers' Reunion, with parade of Veterans. A pleasant feature of the day will be the competition by young ladies on horseback for a $25 side-saddle.

Street Arabs.

Last Monday two negro boys engaged in a quarrel on Market Square, which ended in one flooring (or "grounding?") the other with a piece of brick, inflicting a wound from which the boy bled terribly.

We regret to say that we have a very bad, disorderly youthful colored population—the more to be deplored and the less to be expected when we consider that the ante bellum negroes of Fayetteville, and a large majority of younger adults, are very estimable people—law-abiding, intelligent and courteous—toward whom the feelings of the whites are the feelings of friendship and affection.

Negro boys congregate in all public places, where they are noisy and disrespectful; and, on the occasion of any entertainment, their presence about the doors or on the stairways is an intolerable nuisance. We determined, when leaving Williams Hall a short time since, that the next time there was a general gathering in this city—especially where there were women and children—we would take it upon ourselves to request the City Marshal to forbid the entrance of all negro lads unless especially employed within the building.

Serious Disappointments.

Our sympathies have recently been aroused in behalf of pleasure-seekers on the line of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, who have prepared themselves to participate in different excursions, bought their tickets, got their baskets ready, and made their way to the stations—only to find the train too completely packed to even stop for them. We know that there was no intention on the part of the train managers to neglect them, but the feeling of disappointment was there all the same; and we hope that on the occasion of the next big excursion pains will be taken to ascertain in advance the number to be expected at way-stations, that none may be deprived of an anticipated day of enjoyment.

We Can Supply Them.

We have a very friendly feeling for all our other growing towns and pleasure-resorts, and Fayetteville, out of her abundant advantages and blessings, is willing to do all she can for them. The other day—just as we stepped into the store of Mr. A. S. Huske to smell his fine table grapes, and buy a small cabbage to "bile" the pot—we saw a telegram handed to him:—an order from Battery Park Hotel, Asheville, N. C., for 100 lbs. best grapes twice a week, to complete the menu of that fine hostelry. On one side was a pile of baskets of Ives and other grapes awaiting shipment. Large quantities are now being sent to Northern and other markets from Tokay, Bordeaux and other vineyards in this vicinity.

Not a Single Boarder.

The jail is emptied, the last inmate having been cleaned out on Monday—good for Cumberland and its government!

Township Primaries.

Following is an official report of the proceedings of the primaries held in the townships of the county on Friday, 1st inst.:

FLEA HILL.

The spirit evoked and the interest manifested at the township conventions throughout the county are very gratifying. They mean concert of action among all classes, and unshaken loyalty in the Cumberland Democracy.

Death of Ambrose Overbaugh.

Mr. Ambrose Overbaugh died at his residence in this city on Monday afternoon, 4th inst., after a long period of bodily suffering, which he accepted with manly constancy and fortitude. He was born in Duchess county, N. Y., February 6th, 1824, and came to Fayetteville in the year 1852. For a long time he was with the late A. A. McKethan in his large carriage manufactory, but for some years had devoted his time entirely to the hotel business, in which, with the aid of his wife—whose manifold admirable qualities rendered her in every sense a precious helpmeet—he made friends with the traveling public throughout the whole country.

Mr. Overbaugh was a man of undemonstrative but strong feelings, faithful in his friendships and affections, of simple and honorable nature, which conciliated respect and esteem wherever he was known. He leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters, who in their bereavement have the community's sincere sympathy.

The funeral services took place on Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from the Hay Street Methodist Church, Rev. C. W. Byrd officiating—the Knights of Pythias in a body paying tribute to his memory.

Commissioners' Court.

The board of County Commissioners met on Monday last—present: A. B. Williams, chairman; N. R. Blue, W. J. Buie, K. J. Rhodes, M. A. Gillis.

The report of the committee to re-value improved property in Cross Creek township was received and adopted.

Walter McDonald, a prisoner in jail, was hired to J. G. Shaw for payment of costs.

J. B. Troy, Treasurer, presented to the board paid county coupons to the amount of $14,752.50, and bridge coupons to the amount of $5,712.00, which were destroyed by burning in the presence of the board.

J. T. Pool was granted license to retail spirituous liquors, subject to the approval of the town commissioners.

A new registration of voters was ordered for Cumberland county, required by the election law as amended by the General Assembly of 1889.

After auditing sundry bills the board adjourned.

"Elegant and Lively Campobello."

That is the loving and admiring title with which delighted visitors dub the pleasure-resort managed during the summer by our esteemed friend and citizen, Mr. T. A. Barker, of the Hotel LaFayette, and where the accomplished Miss Belle and the winsome Miss Gracie Barker are sojourning for the season. Noting 50 or 60 late arrivals, the Eastport Sentinel of the 30th ult. says:

Numerous arrivals from Bar Harbor and the Boston boats have swelled the numbers at Tyn-y-coed till the company is now a large family, and new amusements and entertainments are making happy the new comer as well as the season habitue. To-night the young folks have a grand bay ride and moonlight excursion; to-morrow evening a choice entertainment at Mrs. Well's cottage; the next evening an entertainment by an accomplished elocutionist from Washington, D. C., is promised; and thus the merry days and evenings go by.

Miss Mary Miller, of Goldsboro, has been making a visit to her friend, Miss May Broadfoot, on Haymount.

Four at a Time.

A recent issue of the Greensboro Patriot gives an account of a thrilling runaway or, rather, conglomeration of runaways on South Elm street in that city—commencing with the fright of two ponies, which drew other teams into the stampede, during which a Miss O'Connor came near losing her life.

This recalls a similar "racket" in Fayetteville some years ago. During a municipal raid on dogs City Marshal W. R. Clark shot a friendless canine in the doorway of a building on Gillespie street. Pandemonium then turned loose: Dr. McNeill's handsome roan set off at speed toward the Fair Grounds, and he landed in a deep diteh, breaking his leg; Dr. McDuffie's little bay tore up Hay street, came to the conclusion that it didn't amount to much anyway, made a graceful circle just above Williams Hall, and galloped back in style to his hitching-post; a horse drawing a truck-cart ran wild toward the setting sun, changed like a flash, and came east down the Hay street pavement, whirled at Kyle's corner, and bolted in at the door of the book-store in the jamb—while Mr. Haigh and his clerks came out the window; a sand-hill ox, concluding that the deuce was to pay, "made himself conspicuous by his absence," was last seen going like a streak of piebald lightning toward Clarendon Bridge, and we are under the impression that he has never been heard from since.

During all the confusion an old colored woman who kept an eating-stall on Market Square keeled over in a dead faint, lay quiet for a while, and then came to, without anybody paying the slightest attention to her whatever.

Marshals for the Red Springs Fair.

Col. E. F. MacRae, Chief Marshal of the Lumber River Live-Stock and Industrial Fair, to be held at Red Springs on the 14th, 15th and 16th insts., has appointed the following assistants:

Robeson—H. McEachern, A. A. McEachern, W. G. Buie, H. M. Norment, J. G. Williams, J. McK. Alford, T. L. Smith, A. J. McLeod, L. R. Hamer, Hector McGeachey, Dr. J. P. Brown, N. B. McArthur.

Cumberland—Maj. W. F. Campbell, A. J. Pemberton.

Richmond—D. A. Patterson, N. McKay, Z. L. Gibson, Pickett Leak, M. McDuffie, A. McL. McRae.

Marion, S. C.—R. A. Braddy, J. J. McKay, A. N. McCallum.

Marlboro, S. C.—D. A. Roper, W. A. Covington.

A Fayetteville Man Honored.

Mr. Charlie Rankin, of this city, a graduate of the State University, has been made principal of the Plain View High School, and will depart on or about the middle of this month to assume the duties in his new field of labor. The good people of that portion of Robeson could hardly have made a better selection, though we part with Mr. Rankin reluctantly, as he is in every way a model young man—sober and industrious in his daily habits, honest and upright in all his dealings, enjoying the esteem of a large circle of friends in Fayetteville, who join the OBSERVER in wishing for him a full realization of all his brightest anticipations.

An Acquisition.

His warm personal friends and admirers know even better than we that this community is to be congratulated on having as a resident Mr. Geo. W. Scott, of Petersburg, Va.—a man of remarkable gifts as a musician, who organized the Virginia Chorus, and has accepted the position of organist at St. John's Episcopal Church. He is testing the voices of members of that congregation for the purpose of training a choir, and expects also to form a children's chorus. He possesses a rich, cultured voice, and to hear his singing is a rare pleasure.

In Trouble.

Summer Girl (at C. F. & Y. V. R. R. depot, on the way to Carolina Beach)—Oh, Maggie, what in the world shall I do? I've lost my purse!

Maggie—Lost your purse, you careless thing! Was there much money in it?

Summer Girl—Oh, the money don't make so much difference—but I had put my bathing suit away in my purse!

ONE CASE FLANNEL SUITINGS.

This lot just received is a special. Flannel Suitings are growing in favor every day, and the line we now exhibit embraces all the new shades for early fall wear. It would be advisable to make your selection before they are picked over.

Mr. W. G. Rackley, formerly of this county, now an esteemed resident of Clinton, has been spending a few days with his father's family in this vicinity.

Mr. Alex. Sessoms, of Glenecho, in the city yesterday on business, states that the outlook is gratifying for the success of the Enterprise Land and Improvement Co.

Mrs. R. W. Bidgood has returned from a pleasant trip to Morehead, but will leave again in a few days, to spend the remainder of the summer at the seashore or the mountains.

We call especial attention to the music notice of Miss Mary Worth in another column—a gifted young lady, whose accomplishments are guarantees that her pupils will be well instructed.

It has given us pleasure to meet Rev. Dr. Crowell, the scholarly President of Trinity College, who has been making Fayetteville a visit of a few days, and who delivered a powerful and impressive discourse in the Hay street Methodist church last Sunday.

The tall form of Wash Cobb, of Lumber Bridge, towered aloft on the platform of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. depot last Tuesday. Start not, gentle reader! Though in uniform he was not on the war-path, but only going to the peaceful Encampment at Wrightsville. His only fight these days is against the cohorts of Radicalism.

Capt. J. L. Autry, of Autryville, was in the city last Saturday, and says the recent rains have not damaged the crops in his section. The Captain reports the outlook quite flattering for Autryville, and says work has already begun on a new hotel for that place, which is to be followed by a carriage factory this fall; also a denominational college.

Mr. Thos. H. McLean left last week for Arkansas, where he will attend to the settlement of the affairs of his elder brother, the late Paul McLean, who left here some years prior to the war, and who died in Poinsett county, Ark., a few weeks since. The sheriff of that county, writing to the family in announcement of Mr. McLean's death, states that he came to that part of the State after the war, in the service of which he had been a gallant soldier, having lost an arm, and that he had greatly endeared himself to the people amongst whom he had cast his fortunes and spent the later years of his life.

THOMPSON'S GLOVE-FITTING CORSETS.

We now show the largest line of these goods ever shown in this section. Ladies are aware that they are made in many shapes and styles. Our assortment is complete, and all styles and sizes are represented. This Corset, without exception, is the best in the world.

Expressive of Esteem and Confidence.

[Letter from J. S. Marsh, of Beaufort, to T. H. Sutton.]

MY DEAR SIR:—As a Representative from Beaufort county in the General Assembly of this State in 1889, I came to know you very well, and learned to appreciate your many sterling qualities of head and heart. Your loyalty to the Democratic party and the best interest of the State was never questioned, and was a conspicuous element in your legislative service. I was particularly impressed by your zeal in behalf of the great agricultural interest of the State.

Every reasonable demand of the farmers met with your approbation and at once enlisted your earnest and valuable services in behalf of such legislation. The farmers had no truer Representative, and all measures looking towards the material advancement of our good old State always commanded your support.

[Letter from L. D. Baucom, of Wake.]

MY DEAR FRIEND:—I cannot too highly commend your course in the last Legislature. Every demand, every interest of the farmers was watched and earnestly defended by you. You could not have been more so had you have been one of their number and their leader, and the farmers could not do better than to return you or give you any position of honor, trust or profit to which you may aspire and is in their gift. The journal of the House will justify these assertions I have made.

ISOCHRONISM.

Careful inquiry for the past ten months has secured us the services of Mr. BERNHARD F. GROHMAN, of Hartford, Conn. who comes to us endorsed by the fine jewelry trade of Connecticut's capital city as a "gentleman absolutely reliable and a skilful watchmaker."

During his four years' service in the famous establishment of the Messrs. Linderoth, of Stockholm, Sweden, he acquired such skill as to obtain for him the position of Synchronizer of the watches and clocks of the Royal Palace. The reluctance with which he gave up his fine position in Hartford he feels will be more than compensated by the climate and encouraging future offered by this immediate section.

With the latest improved machinery, skillful in its use, a thorough knowledge of the mechanism of all time-keepers, he is prepared to put your watch in such condition as will meet the railway requirements. Careful attention given to the proper adjustment of chronographs and complicated watches.

All work done promptly, properly and carefully.

THREE ROSES.

Together on a slender spray they hung,
Dowered with equal beauty, passing fair,
And blent, as though an unseen censer swung,
Their mingled perfume with the morning air.

Not theirs the fate to linger till decay
Strewed their sweet-scented petals on the ground,
For, ere the close of that bright summer day,
Each sister-rose another fate had found.

Twined in the meshes of a beauty's hair
One blossom faded slowly, hour by hour,
Until at parting, some one in despair,
As a memento craved the withered flower.

One went an offering to a vain coquette,
Who plucked its leaves, and, as they fluttering fell,
Whispered a test that has believers yet:
He loves me—loves me not—he loves me well.

A maiden's form lies in a darkened room,
In folded hands, upon a pulseless breast,
One touch of color in the deepening gloom:—
The last of the three roses is at rest.

THE MONTH OF FRUITS.

The corn is standing in golden rows,
The gardens are rich in things to eat;
Melons are ripe, and each man knows
Abundance is spreading at his feet,
Luscious and mellow and passing sweet.

The sky above us is still most blue,
And the sun glares down the live-long day;
But work all done and labor through,
We well can sleep the night away;
For breezes rise at set of sun,
To cool the earth and revive the flowers;
As the evening veil above is hung,
We watch the stars from this world of ours,
And smile at the pleasant August hours.

Fast Walking for Horse Work.

Ohio Farmer.]

Most horses can be trained to a more than ordinarily fast walk. One good way is to be quick and wide-awake yourself. The horse (and hired man) soon become considerably like the master. Work-horses, I think, can be trained to walk faster if they are never driven beyond a walk during the working season. Many a time, coming back from market, farmers have overtaken me and gone by, only to be overtaken in turn by a fast-walking team before they reached the top of the next hill. When they stopped trotting their horses slacked off to about half the rate of speed that mine kept steadily.

At home on the farm we never work the horses more than 8 or 10 hours a day, and for this length of time they will keep pretty well up to a four-mile-an-hour gait when drawing many of our implements. I saw a man barely moving this summer behind a slow, moping horse, working corn and potatoes, getting over about three acres a day, while my man, behind a free-moving animal, easily cultivated seven acres of our narrow rows one way in a day of 9 hours. Which would you choose? The fast walker, you say, would throw dirt over the little plants. No; we have on purpose teeth so narrow that they cannot throw dirt, so as to accomplish twice as much in a day.

Another good plan, after you get your horses trained to walk fast, is never to hold them in on cultivator or plough—or any other implement unless it be necessary—but let them work at a natural gait. How it provokes me to see a man make a free-walking horse drag him along by the reins! I will not allow my horses to be discouraged. When ploughing or cultivating, after getting started, we always hang the reins loosely on the handles as we go.

Keeping Grapes.

E. P. Roe kept Catawbas, Isabellas, Diannas and Ionas by picking on a clear day, using grape scissors so as not to handle much, removing all imperfect berries, and placing the bunches in clean, dry earthen jars in layers a bunch deep, and filling the jars in this way. Place a double sheet of paper over the top layer, and put on the lid. Strong unbleached muslin should be pasted entirely over the cover of the jar; when this has fully dried and hardened the jars are buried on a dry knoll beyond the frost line, a stake being placed over each jar to locate it.

A noted farmer says that he has kept Concords up to January by packing in dry sawdust in market or bushel baskets. A simple method is to place grape leaves between the layers of grapes, as you gather them, or sheets of paper. Handsome clusters are preserved by cutting off a piece of vine with them, and placing one end of the vine in a bottle of water; also by covering with wax the stem of the cluster at the point where cut. Grapes should be kept as near the freezing point as possible, and yet not freeze.

Cotton Stalks for Stock Feed.

H. B. Battle.]

It is not generally known that dry cotton stalks when ground will make a good, rich feed for stock, approximately equal to the hay from mixed meadow grasses. During the winter several dry cotton stalks were pulled from the field at the N. C. Experiment Station at Raleigh. The stalks were dry, and still had the burrs and some few leaves adhering. A few roots were also pulled up with the stalks. The whole were ground together, and, on analysis, yielded 12.77 per cent. of moisture, 7.75 of ash, 2.27 of ether extract, 7.31 of albuminoids, 42.35 of nitrogen (free extract) and 27.55 of crude fibre. The nutritive ratio by analysis, not by digestibility, was 1 to 10.3.

This is approximately the same as the analysis of hay from mixed meadow grasses, which gives a digestible ratio of 1 to 12.2. No opportunity has been given to test the digestibility of cotton stalks by actual trial with stock. Should they prove of good digestibility, and the cost of pulling the old stalks and grinding them be not too great, cotton stalks may yet become useful adjuncts in cattle feeding.

A Good Insecticide.

Dissolve alum in hot water, making a very strong solution, and apply to furniture and crevices in the wall with a paint-brush. This is sure destruction to noxious vermin, and invaluable because it is easily obtained, is perfectly safe to use, and leaves no unpleasant traces behind. When you suspect that moths have lodged in the borders of the carpet wet its edges with a strong solution. Whenever it reaches them it is certain death.

A Worthy Ambition.

"I hope you still regard me as a friend," he murmured.

"Why, of course," she replied, with a merry smile. "I like to have all the proposals I can get. You see, I want to have more than Rosalie Dubon by the time I return to the city."

He Got Them.

"Oh, dear," said the sweet girl graduate, "whenever I get up to speak I don't know what to do with my hands."

"Leave them with me," whispered Cousin George.

That was a year before the weddihg.

No Romance.

"It is very sad," she mused, "but Charlie hasn't got a bit of romance. Last night I said to him, 'My king,' and he turned suddenly, and growed out, 'Mike who?'"

☞"It's pretty tough luck," complained the big trunk, "to find yourself completely strapped just when you are starting off on a long journey."

JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE

NOLANDINE!

The Great Virginia Vegetable Alterative,

BLOOD PURIFIER AND RENOVATOR

—OF THE—

HUMAN SYSTEM!

Has been used most successfully in the following Diseases, as the Certificates below will attest:

For Liver Complaint, Jaundice and Bilious Derangement. In Mercurial, Blood Poison, Scrofulous and all Eruptive Diseases, Costiveness, Indigestion Flatulence, Periodical Sick Headache and Female Complaints.

READ THE CERTIFICATES.

From Virginia Medical Monthly (September number, 1889) Landon B. Edwards, M. D., editor and proprietor, Richmond:

"THE NOLANDINE COMPANY, of Richmond, Va., begin an advertisement in this issue of preparations which have received the highest kind of professional endorsements for the cure of chills and fever, functional liver troubles, etc. The virtues of the drugs named seem to rest in the special manner of their combination. During a recent visit to the laboratory we were courteously shown every detail of the manufacture."

I have used your vegetable preparation, "NOLANDINE," and find it a valuable agent in the treatment of functional diseases of the liver. Its action on that organ and all secreting glands is equal to that of calomel, and to my mind, the only yet discovered substitute for this time-honored remedy. It is, furthermore, entirely free from constitutional effects too often observed from the use of mercurials; and, in many cases, where mercurials have been incautiously administered, I have witnessed the beneficial results of "NOLANDINE," in eliminating and modifying the most distressing after symptoms. I will add, in regard to your Fever and Ague Preparation, that I prescribed it for my mother, who had been a sufferer from chills and fever for twelve months. She had taken quinine until it had ceased to have any effect on her. One-half bottle of my NOLANDINE for chills and fever relieved her entirely of the chills and restored her to good health.

I cheerfully recommend a trial of NOLANDINE to the profession, believing that it will stand their test

Very truly yours, A. TRENT CLARKE, M. D.

The very high character of the testimonials attesting the merits of your vegetable preparation, NOLANDINE, induced me to make a test of your NOLANDINE proper in a very desperate case of Hydrothrax [dropsy of the chest], combined with Ascities [dropsy of abdomen]. The usual remedies known to our profession had been most skilfully administered without producing anticipated effects. The diseases yielded to the action of your NOLANDINE. I very gratefully state that my patient is now enjoying the blessings of a restoration to good health, and now, four months since administering your NOLANDINE, there is not a symptom of recurrence.

I had several opportunities of testing the merits of your NOLANDINE for chills and fever in cases which had resisted the usual remedies for months, and had the satisfaction to see them entirely broken and permanently cured after a course of your NOLANDINE.

I know that I will incur the displeasure of the profession by departing from its usages, but candor and facts compel me to call the attention of my professional brethren to the valuable properties of your preparation, and trust that prejudice will not deter them from its use. I have found the action of your NOLANDINE on the liver and secretions more than equal to calomel, which is an additional recommendation.

Very respectfully, A. G. JONES, M. D.

409 EAST CLAY STREET, RICHMOND, VA., April 19, 1887.

J. W. Johnston, Proprietor of Nolandine:

During the last twelve months I have had frequent opportunities of testing the curative properties of your VEGETABLE NOLANDINE in the following diseases, and in not a single case did it fail to accomplish all that you claim for it: Dyspepsia and other catarrhal affections of the stomach and bowels, catarrhal affections of the kidneys and bladder, uterine catarrh and irregularities, malarial complications and habitual constipation, and as a general tonic and alterative, I have found it very efficacious.

Yours truly, JAS. A. GARLICK, M. D.

IRWIN P. O., GOOCHLAND, VA., August 1, 1889

To the Nolandine Company, Richmond, Va.:

From personal experience I can very cheerfully recommend NOLADINE for all it claims, and, in this opinion, I am borne out by others who have tested its merits.

Yours truly, G. H. PALMER MOREWOOD.

TAYLORSVILLE, HANOVER COUNTY, VA.

The Nolandine Company, Richmond, Va.:

Gentlemen:—I have been a great sufferer from blood poison, which caused large sores to come all over my legs and feet, so that I could hardly wear my shoes, when I received a bottle of NOLANDINE from a friend. I began using it at once, and in less than ten days it had cured me completely. I think it the best remedy in the world. I am yours very respectfully, WM. M. TERRY.

To the Nolandine Company: June 1, 1889.

Permit me to add my testimony to the curative properties of NOLANDINE. For many years I have suffered from varicose veins. Twelve months ago I struck my leg against a chair, breaking one of the veins. The wound thus made could not be healed, except for a short time, then break out afresh. At times I suffered untold misery from local fever and most insufferable burning sensation After using two (2) bottles of your VEGETABLE NOLANDINE the ulcerated places healed, the swelling disappeared, natural sleep was restored, and my nervous system composed. As a vermifuge, NOLANDINE acted specifically on one of my children. As a blood purifier and general tonic your NOLANDINE has no equal. Gratefully yours, D. B. PROSSER.

At S. S. Cottrell's Son, 1302 Main Street, Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, VA., October, 1886.

My wife and three children returned to this city from Charles City County, where they contracted chills and fever, and their systems thoroughly saturated with malarial poison. One bottle of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLADINE cured my entire family. My wife suffered for five years with dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and was permanently cured by VEGETABLE NOLADINE, using only two bottles. J. B. BURTON.

RICHMOND, VA., July, 1889.

This is to certify that I have known of the superior qualities of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE for the past ten years, and during that time, at intervals, have had occasion to use it in person, and in my family, and have always found it a sure cure for derangements of the liver and kidneys, indigestion, headache, etc., and a good tonic. L. C. DAVIS, 804 North Fifth Street.

ROBIN'S STATION, CHESTERFIELD CO., VA., March 25, 1885.

Mr. J. W. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—Having suffered for years with a chronic affection of the kidneys, derangement of the liver, and my general system charged with malarial poison, I found no relief from treatment of medicine until I used VEGETABLE NOLANDINE. I am now free from above complaints, and to NOLANDINE I am indebted for this restoration to health. I honestly recommend it to all persons suffering from the above diseases. WILLIAM DICKSON, Superintendent of Coal Mines.

RICHMOND, VA., May, 1885.

I can cheerfully recommend JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE to any one suffering from liver or kidney complaints and bilious derangement of the system. Its prompt and permanent action in my case affords me pleasure to recommend it to others similarly affected.

Formerly with Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Mr. Jos W. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—I have used your NOLANDINE, and would cheerfully recommend it as a valuable medicine for malarial diseases and for promoting appetite, and a splendid tonic. For the relief of the pains consequent upon female weakness and irregularities I consider it without an equal.

Respectfully, MRS. L. M. BELL.

OFFICE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY,
RICHMOND, VA., March 1, 1885.

I lived on lower James River for eight years in the malarial district. My system was thoroughly charged with this deadly poison. I exhausted the usually prescribed and domestic remedies without any benefit. I was induced to try JOHNSTON'S VEGETABBE NOLANDINE. Before using two bottles my liver was aroused from its long torpor, and I am now enjoying the best of health. My wife and children derived the same benefits from NOLANDINE. J. A. WYATT.

FLEET, KING AND QUEEN CO., VA., January 31, 1887.

I was afflicted with chills and fever during the fall of last year. I could stop them with quinine, but they wouldn't stay stopped, they would return the 7th, 14th, 21st, or 28th days. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of NOLANDINE, and I used it according to directions, and I have not had a chill since. I am in good health and weigh as much or more than I ever did. E. S. WILSON.

509 NORTH EIGHTH STREET, RICHMOND, VA

Mr. Johnston:

Dear Sir:—Your NOLANDINE has quite come up to all its promises. So valuable do I consider a family medicine that, unsolicited by yourself, I offer my certificate.

Yours truly, MRS. E. F. PATTON.

RICHMOND, VA., July 13, 1887.

J. W. Johnston, Proprietor Nolandine:

Dear Sir:—I have taken your NOLANDINE for habitual constipation of eight years' standing, during which time I have tried many preparations, but I did not receive any relief until I used your preparation, from which I have received immediate and permanent benefits. Was also suffering with malarial and blood poison. I am now free from all such complications and, I am happy to say, enjoying exceptionally good health.

Yours truly, J. B. DOWDEN.

412 EAST BROAD STREET, RICHMOND, VA.

J. W. Johnston:

I feel it but just to recommend your valuable medicine, NOLANDINE, for any trouble caused by torpid liver, or constipation produced by morphine or any drug used to subdue pain. As a tonic for delicate females it is unsurpassed.

The above you are heartily welcome to use any way you deem best, and I will personally tell any one what it will do or application. Respectfully, MRS. A. E. ANTHONY.

RICHMOND, VA., October 1, 1889.

To whom it may concern:

For twelve months I was a fearful sufferer from chronic eczema, during which time I was in the hands of a m skillful physician, faithfully using his remedies, internal and external, without deriving any benefit whatever. I suffered night and day with the most intolerable itching, continuous headache, loss of sleep, appetite and strength. My kidneys and nervous system were fearfully deranged, and my body was covered with innumerable boils. By taking three (3) bottles of JOHNSTON'S VEGETABLE NOLANDINE I have been restored to perfect health. I regard NOLANDINE as the best blood purifier and the most powerful tonic ever compounded, and I am not alone in this belief.

Very respectfully yours, &c., H. B. GRUBBS.
